

Instructor: ..... Date: .....

Learner: ..... Regional Branch: .....

Program: ..... Center: .....

CONTENT

- Let's Start! • Let's Explore! • Let's Practice! • Extension Activity • Target Words • Learning Points

Let's Start!

What are the steps to follow?

Learning Outcome

Identify and describe jobs and careers in both work and social contexts appropriate for the interlocutor.

Can Do Statements

- I can talk about jobs and career plans.
- I can talk about the job search process.
- I can discuss future plans.

Ask your partner:

- What are the steps you take to find a job?
- Which step do you think is the most important?

Let's Explore!

Kristi posts in her job diary. Does she think her skills align* with the expectations** of the job?

* To "align" means to have the right relationship to something else.

** "Expectations" are beliefs about how someone should behave.

Instructions: Read the text aloud.

It's time for me to start looking for a new job. I've decided that I'm going to post about my journey on this blog.

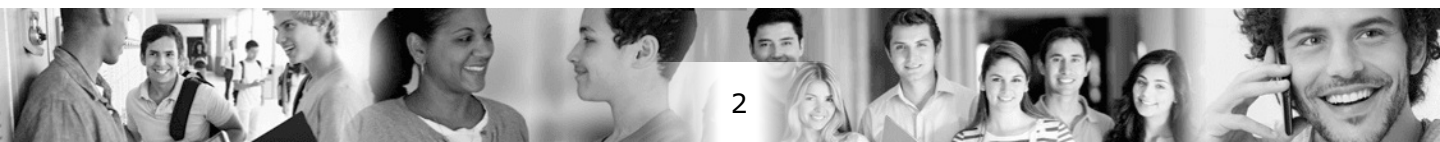

Finding a job can sometimes be a lengthy process. I know the job search itself will take a fair investment of both time and energy.

First, I will need to identify and analyze my skills and interests. I'm going to consider what it is that I want to do and how well my particular skills and interests match the job expectations. I'm going to see what jobs are out there. I'll have to determine if I need any additional skill sets or experience to help me get the job I want.

I'm going to create a master résumé. That way, I can change it for each specific job. I'll have to work on writing cover letters as well. Today, I'm reviewing my social media accounts to ensure the image prospective employers see of me online is representative of the way I want to be seen.

I'm debating on whether or not I'll utilize my network. Many employers and job seekers agree that this is the best way to find a good job. I have read that many times employers fill positions with candidates their contacts have forwarded to them.

Finally, I'll start researching the job types that suit both my interests and the skills that I have. I'm going to start by looking within Boston. I want to stay in the city. I'm thinking about attending a job fair. I wonder if there are any coming up.

Let's Practice!

What are the steps of the job search process?

Instructions: Match the sentences on the right with their missing parts on the left.

- |                                                       |                                                                |
|-------------------------------------------------------|----------------------------------------------------------------|
| 1. Identify and analyze                               | a. that are out there that match your interests and skill set. |
| 2. Look to see what                                   | b. sets or experiences to help in the job search process.      |
| 3. Determine if you need to gain any additional skill | c. a job fair.                                                 |
| 4. Create a master                                    | d. media accounts.                                             |
| 5. Work on your cover                                 | e. jobs are out there.                                         |
| 6. Review your social                                 | f. your skills and interests.                                  |
| 7. Start researching the kinds of jobs                | g. letters.                                                    |
| 8. Attend                                             | h. résumé.                                                     |

Let's Practice!

Kristi talks about her future plans.

Instructions: Read the excerpts below and identify their main tense.

- I'm going to post about my journey in this blog
- It will take a reasonable investment of time and energy
- I'll need time to identify my skills and interests
- I'm going to think about what I want to do
- I'll have to determine if I need additional skills
- I'm going to create a master résumé

| Present Continuous | Will | Be Going to |
|--------------------|------|-------------|
|                    |      |             |

Extension Activity

Follow the job search process.

Instructions: Complete the following steps. Fill in the Self-Assessment.

- Write down all the steps of the job search process.
- After you have done that, write down your plans on how you will carry out each step of the process. Write down the things you have completed and things you will need to do to complete that step.
- Read through your plan.
- Share and compare your plan with a partner.

Self-Assessment

Yes

No

I write about the job search process.

☐ ☐

I write about my future plans related to the job search.

☐ ☐

I talk about the job search process and my future plans with my partner.

☐ ☐

Target Words

- job search (noun): the act of looking for employment
e.g. I know the job search will take time.
- investment (noun): something that you do because it will be useful later e.g. The search itself will take a fair investment of both time and energy.
- skills and interests (expression): things you do well and enjoy doing because you have learned and practiced them e.g. I will need to identify and analyze my skills and interests.
- master résumé (noun): a document which includes your education and your previous jobs
Example: I'm going to create a master résumé.
- cover letter (noun): a letter that you send with documents that give information about its contents e.g. I'll have to work on writing cover letters as well.
- representative (adjective): describes how you typically are e.g. Ensure the image prospective employers see of you online is representative of the way you want to be seen.
- to utilize (verb): to use something for a particular purpose
e.g. I can utilize social media to find a job.
- network (noun): a group of people that are connected
Example: I can also utilize my network to find a job.
- job fair (noun): an event where people go to get information about different kinds of jobs e.g. I'm thinking about attending a job fair.

Learning Points

Future with "Will"

One of the most common ways of talking about the future in English is by using the auxiliary verb "will". Here's more on how to form and talk about the future with "will".

- You use "will" to talk about decisions made at the time of speaking.

I will make use of my network.

- You use "will" to talk about facts or events in the future.

I will start researching jobs.

- You use "will" to make predictions based on personal opinions.

It will take a reasonable investment of time and energy.

Here's how to form the future with "will"

|                      |                           |                           |
|----------------------|---------------------------|---------------------------|
| Affirmative   | subject + will/'ll        | go through all the steps. |
| Negative      | subject + will not /won't | go through all the steps. |
| Interrogative | Will + subject            | go through all the steps? |

Examples:

- They'll walk us through all the steps.
- We won't go through all the steps.
- Will you go through all the steps with me?

Learning Points

Talking about the Future

Using “will” is one way to talk about the future. There are two other ways you can talk about the future.

When you talk about intentions, you use be going to.

When you talk about things that are arranged, on the agenda or booked for the future, you use the Present Continuous tense.

Many people use be going to in place of the Present Continuous tense.

| Name                     | Use                                                                                                                | Example                                                                                                  |
|--------------------------|--------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------|----------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------|
| The ModalWill | talk about things that are not decided; make a decision at the moment of speaking for the future; make predictions | I will look for a new job.I think it will take a lot of time and energy. |
| Be going to              | talk about intentions                                                                                              | I'm going to start a blog about my journey.                                                |
| Present Continuous       | talk about things that are arranged, on the agenda or booked for the future                                        | I'm reviewing my account this afternoon.                                                   |

