

Instructor: Date:

Learner: Regional Branch:

Program: Center:

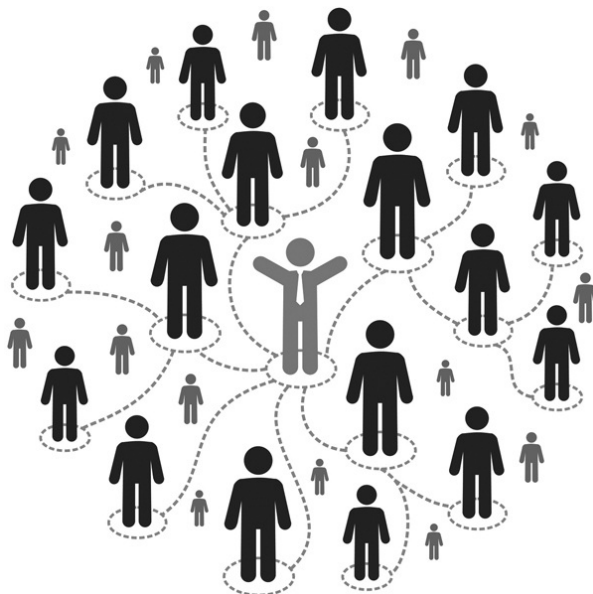

CONTENT

- Let's Start! • Let's Explore! • Let's Practice! • Extension Activity • Target Words • Learning Points

Let's Start!

What are the perks of networking?

Learning Outcome

Identify and describe jobs and careers in both work and social contexts appropriate for the interlocutor.

Ask your partner:

- Do you like to meet new people? Why or why not?
- What do you think networking is?

Can Do Statements

- I can talk about professional or academic information.
- I can talk about what I was doing in the past.
- I can explain the advantages of the networking process.

Let's Explore!

Kristi calls her mom. What do they talk about? Does Kristi dismiss her mom's ideas?

* To "dismiss" means to refuse to consider someone's idea because you think it isn't important.

Instructions: Read the text aloud.

Kristi's Mom: Hello?

Kristi: Hey Mom!

Kristi's Mom: Hi Kristi. Were you trying to call me a while ago?

Kristi: No but I was thinking about what you were saying on my way home.

Kristi's Mom: Okay ...

Kristi: Now, I know it seems like I was dismissing this idea earlier when you mentioned it but I was hoping you could give me Danielle's contact information?

Kristi's Mom: Of course. I was wondering when you were going to ask.

Kristi: You know me too well! I was contemplating whether or not I'd ask. But, I think it might help to talk to someone in the media industry.

Kristi's Mom: It will. Networking always helps. There are lots of advantages to networking, you know.

Kristi: Are there? I was just looking at it as a way to make more contacts in the industry. You know, an opportunity to expand your network.

Kristi's Mom: There's that. One of the other benefits is that it is the most effective way to find jobs and there's less competition than your traditional job search.

Kristi: You do have a point there. Not everyone is willing to talk to any potential contact and sometimes you may be required to talk to numerous contacts before obtaining any kind of results.

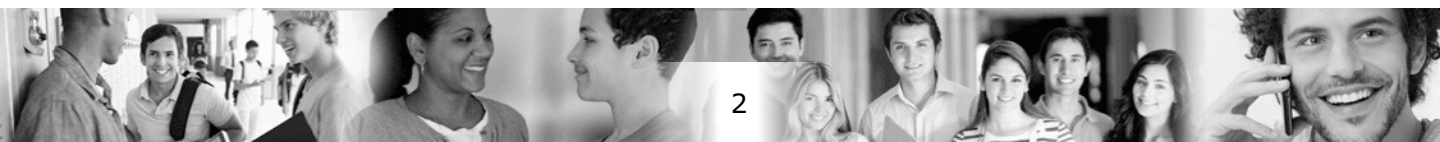

Kristi's Mom: True. I think the biggest advantage is that you're learning so much. One of the perks is learning tips about company and hiring trends from inside sources. Another positive point is the ability to access the hidden job market and find jobs that will not be advertised. A plus is the possibility of being referred to a company that only hires through referrals.

Kristi: Going back to the topic, can you send me Danielle's e-mail?

Kristi's Mom: I'll send you a text with all her contact information. Danielle will most definitely be willing to offer her knowledge and advice to you.

Kristi: Thanks, Mom! You're the best!

Kristi: Oh man, the idea of contacting a professional seems daunting ... and there's Mom's text.

Let's Practice!

What was Kristi contemplating?

Instructions: Read the dialogue. Circle all the sentences in the Past Continuous tense. Check your pronunciation with your instructor.

Kristi's Mom: Hello?

Kristi: Hey Mom!

Kristi's Mom: Hi Kristi. Were you trying to call me a while ago?

Kristi: No but I was thinking about what you were saying on my way home.

Kristi's Mom: Okay ...

Kristi: Now, I know it seems like I was dismissing the idea earlier when you mentioned it but I was hoping you could give me Danielle's contact information.

Kristi's Mom: Of course. I was wondering when you were going to ask.

Kristi: You know me too well! I was contemplating whether or not I'd ask. But, I think it might help to talk to someone in the media industry.

Let's Practice!

What does Kristi need?

Instructions: Read the text below and circle the incorrect words.

1. I want to make more content in this industry.
2. I think the best way to do that is through networks.
3. I can learn a lot about the inside that way too.
4. I can learn about company and HR trends from industries.
5. I'll have access to the hidden work place and find jobs that will not be advertised or be referred to companies that only hire through referees.
6. But before all that, I need to gather some e-mail addresses.

Extension Activity

Find out about more advantages of networking.

Instructions: Complete the following steps. Fill in the Self-Assessment.

- Go on the Internet. Do some research about the advantages of networking.
- Write down 5-7 advantages. Which one do you think is most important? Least important?
- Organize your advantages in order of importance. Remember to use expressions to talk about the advantages.
- Share the advantages you wrote down with a partner. Do you have any in common?

Self-Assessment

Yes

No

I identify the advantages of networking.

☐ ☐

I write about professional information related to networking.

☐ ☐

I organize my advantages in order of importance.

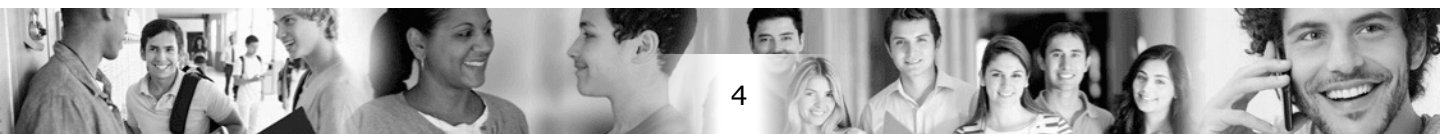

☐ ☐

I share and discuss my advantages with a partner.

☐ ☐

Target Words

- contact (noun): a person you know who may be able to help or advise you
Example: I was just looking at it as a way to make more contacts.
- contact information (noun): the details required to reach someone, such as an address or telephone number e.g. I was hoping you could give me Danielle's contact information.
- networking (noun): the practice of meeting other people involved in the same kind of work, to share information e.g. There are lots of advantages to networking you know.
- industry (noun): businesses that provide a particular service e.g. It's a way to meet more contacts in the industry.
- hiring trend (noun): a general tendency in the way people are employed e.g. You'll learn tips about company and hiring trends.
- inside source (noun): a person who is part of a particular company or industry that gives you information e.g. You'll learn about a variety of things from an inside source.
- job market (noun): the people looking for work and the jobs that are available at that time e.g. You also have the ability to access the hidden job market and find jobs that will not be advertised.
- referral (noun): a person who is recommended to someone e.g. You could even be referred to a company that only hires through referrals.

Learning Points

The Simple Past and The Past Continuous Tenses

When you are talking on the phone, it is common to use a mixture of tenses. This allows you to convey a variety of timelines and action sequences.

You use the Simple Past tense to talk about many kinds of past events: short, quickly finished actions, longer situations and repeated events.

You use the Past Continuous tense to talk:

- about two actions in the past; one continues for a period, and the other starts and ends (simple past).

For example: While I was walking home, I thought about what you said.

- about two actions in the past, both happening over a period.

For example: I was thinking about what you were saying.

- about a temporary activity taking place over a limited time.

For example: I was wondering when you were going to call.

The form of the Past Continuous is:

subject + was/were + verb-ing

NOTE: When you want to ask a question, using the Past Continuous the form changes.

Was/were + subject + verb-ing ... ?

For example:

Were you trying to call me?

Was it raining outside?

Learning Points

Talking about Advantages

An advantage is a good or useful quality or condition that something has. You often talk about the advantages of doing certain things when finding a job.

Here are some expressions you can use when talking about the advantages.

Using determiners	Using collocations	Using other words (instead of advantage)
• An/The advantage • One of the advantages • Some advantages are ... /Some of the advantages are ...	• The greatest advantage/The main advantage/The most significant advantage • By far the most important advantage • A great/major/big advantage • A more important/very important advantage • A possible/potential advantage • Another advantage/ A further advantage/ An additional advantage/One more advantage	• benefit • pro • opportunity • perk • positive (point) • plus

Examples:

- A possible advantage is getting an interview.
- Another benefit is meeting new people.
- One more perk is learning about the company.

